The IRVING GOODMAN COLLECTION of Chinese Coinage

M

Mr. Irving Goodman was born in Toronto, Canada, but is really more of an American in heritage and outlook since his family moved to the United States when he was just 3 years old. He resided first in Detroit, became a United States citizen and ultimately moved to California in 1947 where he established a furniture manufacturing business. A key ingredient in this business was its importing facility, for through Mr. Goodman's travels around the globe in search of profitable import arrangements, he was able to scratch his coin collecting "itch" better than most collectors. Few have the wherewithal to pursue their hobbies with the devotion Mr. Goodman applied to his! (But more on this in a moment.)

This unassuming businessman first became intrigued with rare coins in 1959. On a business trip to the famous city-state of Hong Kong, one of the key import/export centers of the world and an important stopover point for his import business, Mr. Goodman happened into a local coin store where he noticed some United States trade dollars on display. He asked the proprietor what exactly were these curious coins. "Don't you even know what kind of coins America produced," was the owner's terse reply, as if talking to an ignorant schoolboy. For in truth, most of us are like ignorant schoolboys when it comes to our numismatic heritage; few Americans then or now had ever heard of such a thing as an American trade dollar; most folks considered coins as merely something to spend for merchandise one needs. Not so, Mr. Goodman. His interest was provoked by the remark, and he bought four of the Hong Kong shopkeeper's U.S. trade dollars. Thereupon began his long trek up the hill to becoming a rare coin specialist with this 1959 trip to Hong Kong.

Now, coincidentally Mr. Goodman's furniture manufacturing company was headquartered in downtown Los Angeles, at the time close by the offices of Superior Stamp & Coin. Soon after he returned from Hong Kong he went to Superior to discuss his U.S. trade dollar purchase and to learn more about them. There he met a youthful Lawrence Goldberg, son of one of the founders of the coin firm and soon to be one of its principals. Much to Mr. Goodman's astonishment, Larry Goldberg offered him double what he had paid for the coins. As can be imagined, this gave an added spark to his interest in coins and coin collecting.

A warm friendship developed between the young coin dealer and the beginning collector, a friendship that has grown and continues today. Mr. Goodman would arrive at the Goldberg's store each Saturday morning at 10 o'clock and, come 7:30 p.m. closing time, he'd still be there! In the beginning, before he discovered the wide array of global coins, he purchased exclusively United States coinage. For example, on some of those Saturday forays into Superior's store, he'd buy up every one of their commemorative half dollars. If he had a choice of several rare types, say U.S. commemorative 1928 Hawaiians or 1935 Spanish Trails, he'd buy extra pieces, having learned early on that rarities were the secret to collecting.

What Mr. Goodman had discovered is that certain issues took extra legwork to find. Sometimes, months would go by between offerings at auction; or he would see very few of the pieces he needed during his continent-hopping import business. Therefore, whenever he did come across a rarity, he'd snap it up. And if offered multiples (which happened now and then) he would purchase all that he could. That is why, when you thumb through this sale catalog of Mr. Goodman's Chinese coinage collection, you'll find many instances where he has two or three examples of some of the rarest dates or types.

He concentrated on United States coinage at first, but soon branched out into Russian coins (his mother having been born in Russia), Chinese coins, and then, pretty much the whole world. Since Mr. Goodman was a globe-trotter, his coin collection and numismatic knowledge also took on a worldwide interest. For instance, in the last 30 years his business took him overseas 110 times or an average of four times a year. We must envy him, for he had a distinct advantage over most businessmen collectors: he could arrange his trips so as to coincide with major numismatic shows or auctions, and thus enjoy his coin hobby at the same time he was conducting business!

He attended innumerable auctions held by Sotheby's and Glendinning's in person. Attending in person, rather than having an agent represent him, gave him a clear-cut advantage when he saw multiple lots or rare items or when a bargain bid was possible. To give readers a feel for how significant a force Mr. Goodman was in some of these sales, at the renowned Kann sale of Chinese coins, he was the largest buyer there, winning upwards of 50% of the lots sold! And at the famous 1969 Russian sale in Europe (where many of the following pieces last appeared), nearly every other coin carried the name "I. Goodman" after the lot number in the list of buyers distributed after the sale. (Buyers' lists were a normal part of auction sales in Europe for much of this century.) Summing his activity up in two appropriate words, Mr. Goodman was an intense buyer who built an extensive collection through hard work.

His numismatic goals were admirably suited to assembling a formidable collection of world coins. These goals were two-fold: Quality and Completeness. With these goals in mind, in his 30 plus years of collecting, Irving Goodman formed one of the two greatest collections of Chinese silver coins ever assembled in private hands. The only collection that compares to this great holding was formed in China by Eduard Kann.

Mr. Goodman was primarily a collector, not an investor. And as a collector, he acquired an extensive library of numismatic books, periodicals, and auction catalogues to help him further his knowledge of the subject. Today he is one of the top scholars in Chinese as well as Russian coinage.

Today, books on Chinese coinage are hard to find. Consider how elusive they were in the early 1960's, then, when Mr. Goodman began his collection. Although few good sources were readily available, he bought everything he could find and then updated these with copious notes as new information came to hand; notes and source books, combined with Nature's unbeatable computer, the human brain allowed him to become an authority in several fields at once.

As you can see by this catalogue, the quality of the coins in this collection is next to none while his completeness is such that this sale will go down in the annals of numismatics as one of the great sales of Chinese coins of all times. This collection favors admirably with the renowned Kann collection since it contains many examples missing from Kann's collection. This catalogue will become the primary reference guide for Chinese coinage and an important complement to the now standard Kann work.

Mr. Goodman always kept quality clearly before him. If, in buying a Chinese coin, he encountered a better specimen than one he had, he'd upgrade. If the upgraded specimen was also a rare date or type, he'd keep the first piece as a backup, knowing how tough these key coins are to find in any grade. He wanted only the best.

The Irving Goodman Collection contains over 4,000 coins in gold, silver and copper. Many of the finest known examples of various coins exist in this collection. Present are a large quantity of proof and essay pieces and an extraordinary number of unique coins are also represented.

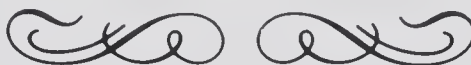

Also included in this collection are coins from three very difficult areas. Mr. Goodman spent many years and countless hours on these subjects. Fantasy coins - which is virtually complete and the largest group ever auctioned. Errors and mules - which is virtually complete and the largest group ever assembled. And, Nepal, Tibet and Annam - of which the Annam is represented by an extensive collection of silver coins and many outstanding rarities which are supplemented by a number of rare gold pieces.

And why are we now auctioning Mr. Goodman's impressive Chinese coins? He told us he considers all numismatists to be temporary custodians of coins; a form of guardianship which is then passed along to the next generation of collectors. He believes he has gone as far as he can in his 30-year quest for knowledge about Chinese coins. Now he wants to devote more time to the other countries he is working on. A man has only so many hours available to him to read and to examine coins, to attend overseas auctions and overseas business. Mr. Goodman spends countless hours in his bank's deposit vault every month tending to his wide-ranging collections, upgrading them, cataloging them, reminiscing over them—dare we say, loving them?—indeed, he maintains an extensive list of the coins he needs, a list of every coin made, which he carries with him.

Like any devotee of coins, we asked him whether he intends to hold any of his Chinese pieces aside. No, he said, his policy is that once he decides to sell he holds nothing back. He makes a clean break with the past so as to be able to devote his entire attention to his current collecting interest. He passes his custodianship onto the next numismatist.

Therefore, once this sale takes place, they're gone. Never again—we repeat, never again—will you have the opportunity, the joy, of looking through such a wide selection of Chinese coins; never again will you have all your legwork done for you. For in a nutshell, Mr. Goodman has, through his 30 years of travelling around the world, done more than one man's lifetime worth of searching for rare Chinese coins. Take heed! His diligence and effort is presented to you here on a silver platter as it were, since before you are some of the handsomest Proofs and Mint State Chinese coins ever seen on the numismatic market. Many of these will doubtless go into hiding once more. They may never again surface in your lifetime. This is undeniably the greatest collection of Chinese formed outside of China.

Do you begin to see how a very modest person, a discreet collector like Mr. Goodman, working methodically year after year could assemble the enormous collection he built? He took a low key approach and gained the friendship of important collectors and dealers and students of the hobby and so earned a worldwide reputation among those in the know as one of the leading experts in the Chinese series. His was a knowledge vast, a warehouse of minutiae. And yet he did not selfishly guard what he had stored; for any who had interests similar to Mr. Goodman's received his welcome assistance. When all is said and done, he is, wholeheartedly, a gentleman.

We at Superior are honored that he chose our firm to sell his Chinese holdings. For the ultimate compliment a collector can give is to sell his collection back through the firm that helped guide him in his collecting career. It is his way of saying "Thank you for taking care of me."

In response, we'd also like to say Thank You, Irv, we will do as good a job of selling your coins as you did collecting them! You are a friend of our company and will remain so forever.

3. All material shall be sold in separate lots to the highest bidder. Superior reserves the right to group individual lots and sell them as one lot with said lots described as such in the auction catalogue. If any dispute arises during or immediately after the sale of a lot, the Auctioneer shall have the right to rescind the lot sale and put it up for sale again. In all cases, Auctioneer's decision shall be final. For the bidder's protection, no "unlimited" or "buy" bids will be accepted.

10. Auctioneer reserves the right to open the lot at a reasonable price and to withdraw any lot at any time.
11. When identical bids are received by SUPERIOR for a lot, preference is given to the first bid received. Grading is an art and not a science. The grades herein represent our opinion based on our experience. Therefore, it is possible that two people will not always grade the same item alike. Also, as market conditions change, grading standards change, and may continue to do so in the future. Your examination of the item(s) should be the criterion and not the grade represented by another. In any purchase or sale, the value of the item(s) is determined by the price. Catalogue price descriptions are only estimates as determined by SUPERIOR for the convenient reference of bidders and should not be relied upon as actual statement or prediction of current market value which is determined by auction sale.

Instructions for New Mail Bidders

If you have never used our mail bid system, here is an explanation. The procedure is quite simple. On the enclosed Mail Bid Form there is space provided for the lot number and the amount you are willing to bid. After carefully reading the description of the lot you wish to bid on, write down the lot number and the maximum amount you are willing to pay. For example, let us assume you are interested in bidding on Lot 1 and the maximum amount you are willing to bid is $350.00, your bid sheet should be as shown on the right.

The bid which you enter is the “maximum amount” or top price that you are willing to pay for a lot (unless you have checked one of the percentage increase boxes). However, there is always the possibility that you may obtain the lot for less.

Before mailing, check your bid sheet for accuracy. Make certain that you bid on the correct lot and that your bid is the maximum you are willing to pay.

Bidding by mail permits you to participate in the auction as though you were in attendance. Many rarities are obtained through the medium of auctions and it can be a very exciting as well as a rewarding method of obtaining wonderful items for your collection. We look forward to your participation in our sale.

Thank you,
The Auction Department

Oldest Silver Dollar Of China

The Old Man Dollar is of great numismatic importance and interest as it is the first Chinese dollar. These early dollars, cast in the time of Tao Kwang, and were not struck coins. The workmanship was very crude. Soft molds were made that could only be used once. These molds, all engraved by hand, were made of a soft metal such as copper or brass or even porcelain. Thus the master die being made of soft metal wore out quickly creating a necessity to re-engrave new dies. These were probably the reasons why there are so many varieties of this type.

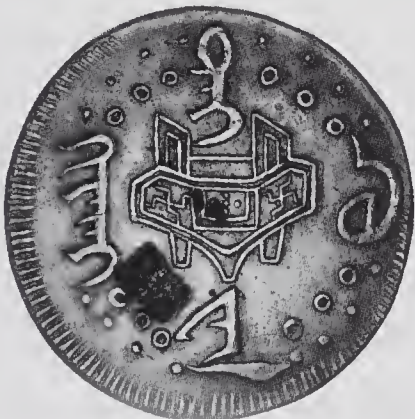

All genuine Old Man Dollars were made with one official government chop after the coin was made, in the form of two characters in square indents chopped on the reverse. In addition to the official government chopmark, Old Man Dollars had merchant chopmarks received in circulation.

The Old Man Dollar is a must for every collector as it is the first and oldest Silver Dollar of China. The Irving Goodman Collection contains a phenomenal 16 examples of which 15 pieces trace their provenance to the Kann Sale. The K-1 is indeed a rare coin as it took Kann more than 25 years to find these pieces while he lived in China. Outside of China, our consignor has not encountered more than 10 pieces (1 in which is Lot 25) in his 30 plus years of collecting.

POSSIBLY UNIQUE KWANGTUNG SPECIMEN SILVER PIEFORT SET

71 KWANGTUNG. Specimen Piefort Silver Set. Dollar, 50, 20 and 10 Cents. ND (1889). K-16, 17, 18, 19 variety. Struck in silver. By Wyon (English). Unpublished as a piefort. Sharply struck with square off edges gives the appearance of being a special specimen striking. Under strong magnification we noticed small pin scratches on most of the coins. After comparing K-16x the copper lot, the same type of small scratches are also on those coins. We therefore believe this was done at the mint at the time of issue. Extremely Rare and possibly unique. About Uncirculated. Set of 4 coins . . . . . ($15,000—UP)

A 4 piece matched toned silver set, plain edge, heavier and thicker than production issue with very slight handling marks. Possibly unique as it is the only set we know of. This set has wide rims and a semi matte finish. To further add to the rarity the set was not known to E. Kann.

Purchased from Spink and Son by private treaty

POSSIBLY UNIQUE KWANGTUNG SPECIMEN COOPER SET

Essay 50 Cents, ND (1889). Copper. 21.17 grams. Plain edge. Struck on a thicker planchet. Obverse: 3 Mace and 6 1/2 Candareens. Lovely reddish brown color with considerable lustre.

Essay 20 Cents, ND (1889). Copper. 6.45 grams. Plain edge. Thick planchet. Obverse: 1 Mace and 4 3/5 Candareens.

Essay 10 Cents, ND (1889). Copper. 3.76 grams. Plain edge. Thick planchet. Obverse: 7 3/10 Candareens. Reddish brown.

This set is a specimen striking with prooflike surfaces. These coins have a rich chocolate brown color. See our comment about K-16 silver set with some pin scratches as this set has the same type of scratches. Again we believe this was done at the mint when struck. Extremely Rare. 4 piece set. Uncirculated . . . . . ($8000—UP)

A unique experience—This 4 piece specimen copper plain edge set appears to be from the same dies as the prior silver set. The consignor purchased the 2 sets (silver and copper) 14 years apart from different sources. This is the only set he knows of (not in Kann book), therefore he feels it is possibly unique.

Chang, he states that the Birmingham Mint retained about ten specimens, of which three pieces were kept in the Birmingham Museum with the balance gaining access into private hands after 1975. The existence of a Hunan Dragon dollar was unknown to collectors until R.N.J. Wright wrote his article 'The Milled Coinage of Imperial China' in "The Numismatic Chronicle" in 1974 published by the Royal Numismatic Society London. One of the first specimens offered for sale, this coin turned up in a public auction by Paramount International Coin Corporation in Long Beach in 1975 where this Dollar realized $15,500.*

The Peking Story

You will discover in E. Kann's "Illustrated Catalog of Chinese Coins" on pp. 99-100 that the Peking Mint was engulfed in the Boxer Rebellion of 1900-01 where it was looted and then utterly destroyed, that is, except for the master dies for four of the Peking coins which were miraculously saved by an anonymous mint worker.

These four dies were thereafter sold to a well-known native Chinese numismatist (since 1947, a resident of Hong Kong). Along with the dies, this numismatist purchased eight sets of the Peking coins, apparently all struck at the Peking Mint before its destruction. Since Mr. Kann wrote his catalog, our consignor turned up additional information through some of his own experiences. Between 1962 and 1967, Mr. Goodman made approximately 15 trips to Hong Kong. There he purchased many coins from a Mrs. Wong, including three sets of the elusive Peking coins. Mrs. Wong had two coin display tables on the ground floor of a large antique store owned by T. Y. King in the old original Alexandria House Building on the Hong Kong side (now demolished).

Mr. Goodman learned to his surprise that Mrs. Wong, a warm, respectable woman about 60 years old, was none other than the widow of the coin collector mentioned above; the collector who had bought the Peking dies and eight sets of Peking coins mentioned by Kann! Mrs. Wong's friend, T. Y. King (since deceased), had been a collector friend of her husband's. When King's two sons took over their father's antique store on his death, they kept his promise to let Mr. Wong's widow continue to have her space rent-free for the rest of her life.

Mrs. Wong confirmed to Mr. Goodman that she and her husband had owned all 8 Peking sets minus several minor pieces, and that no more could be struck because the dies had been broken. It seems a civilian shop had been trying to use them when they shattered. Mr. Goodman sold two of these fascinating Peking sets in Japan around 20 years ago, and kept one set for his collection (which is in this sale).

- 709 HEILUNGKIANG. Essay 50 Cents, ND (1903). cf. K-584x. Pattern struck in brass. 13.19 grams. Milled edge. Standard design. Reverse: Above in English: HEILUNGKIANG PROVINCE. In the center a dragon, and below 3 MACE AND CANDAREENS 6. Right and left 14 petalled rosettes. Lustrous with prooflike surfaces. Struck either as a specimen or possibly as a Proof. Extremely Rare. This is the only piece we know of in the last 30 years. Choice About Uncirculated. . . . . ($4000—UP)
Bordering on Siberia, Heilungkiang (Heilongjiang) was the northwestern most of the former three eastern provinces. Although the area covered a large mass of land including vast desert land, the province was sparsely populated. Economically the district was backwards.
Heilungkiang had no mint of its own, therefore (as other provinces had done) at the beginning of the 20th Century they contracted to have dies prepared for silver coins from the Berlin mint. According to Mr. Kann he knows of no silver 50 Cents or Dollars to exist and the only 50 Cent piece known to him is described as brass with a milled edge. This is the only coin or pattern for this province and is of the highest rarity.

Chinese "Errors and Mules," The Largest Collection Ever Assembled

What excites a coin collector so that he gets that compulsive urge to possess a coin or a group of coins? The coins must be interesting, rare and in choice condition! And these Errors and Mules certainly meant that to our consignor. The Error and Mule collection was Irving Goodman's favorite group of coins and the most difficult to part with.

We feel that this outstanding collection of Errors and Mules is one of the rarest groups of these coins to be offered for sale and the above description fits quite aptly.

It is our consignor's opinion that it would be almost impossible to ever again assemble as large and choice a collection of Chinese Errors and Mules that have all been struck officially in the Mints of China from dies that were used in coin production. The majority of the collection came from the Kann Sale; Eduard Kann lived in China for about 45 years and had official access to the Mints and most importantly cooperation from the Mint staff. The pieces that our consignor acquired for his collection were added piece-by-piece over the entire world during a 30 plus year search and about 100 worldwide trips.

Can you imagine if these errors or mules were on United States coins, each piece would undoubtedly sell for thousands of dollars. Can you picture the excitement of the U.S. collectors if you had a few U.S. silver dollars with a Morgan Face on one side and a Peace Dollar Face on the other? Or a Seated Liberty together with a Morgan Face? All struck in a U.S. Mint from official dies?

A wonderful opportunity to purchase some of the most interesting and fascinating coins in Chinese numismatics.

FABULOUS 1927 SILVER DOLLAR K-608 ERROR COLLECTION

The following lots comprise the most complete group of Kann 608 errors. Kann 608 is one of the most common silver Chinese dollars. However, the errors of this type are rare and were listed by Kann and priced at $80 in 1966. Including the major errors that Kann lists, there are many unpublished varieties that are certainly as rare if not rarer, making this extensive collection a fabulous and interesting group of coins. Mr. Goodman says this took effort to complete.

EXCEEDINGLY RARE JUNK SILVER FRACTIONAL SET

The following three lots should be considered as a set. Struck at the Vienna Mint by Richard Placht, mint engraver. The set struck in silver in the denominations of ½ Dollar, 20 Cents and 10 Cents. A second set of fractional pieces were made for 50, 20 and 10 Cents. According to Mr. Kann he received authentication of only two sets of each kind being produced by mint engraver Richard Placht. One of each set was retained by Mr. Placht, of which one of the sets was obtained by Mr. Kann. That is the set being offered here for sale for the first time in 20 years.

The master dies for these trial pieces were shipped to Nanking. The fractional silver pieces were of the same design of the Sun Yat Sen Dollar piece, Kann 617. The only difference other than size, the fractional denominations displayed only one eye on the junk instead of two eyes. The series was not adopted or minted in China as stated by Mr. Kann.

In 1924 Tuan Chi Jui once again came to power as acting President of the Chinese Republic until he was crowded out of office in 1926 shortly after a severe riot at Peking. Tuan Chi Jui made a name for himself in China largely through his early military accomplishments. Later on in his career his actions were not always beneficial to his country. While head of his party, Twan Chi Jui made extensive concessions to Japan and aided that country in gaining undue influence in China. After retiring, Twan Chi Jui resided partly in Tientsin, and partly in Dairen, under Japanese protection.*

Fantasy Collection

The following collection is the largest and finest group of so-called Fantasy coins of China ever offered at auction.

This fascinating series of coins is acknowledged in the Kann reference catalogue. Fantasy coins were struck in various denominations. Although never readily found, the most often seen is the crown size coins; all of the smaller denominations are rare, and off-metals are very rare.

Always highly sought-after, over the years, Fantasy coins have garnered more and more popularity in the collecting community. And today they enjoy a popularity as never before. In most cases their designs were far more aesthetically appealing than the official coins of China.

Fantasy coins were never available in any quantities, and when our consignor encountered them, he had the foresight to appreciate their scarcity, and proceeded to buy them. In his 30 plus years of collecting, he amassed an amazing 172 pieces.

This is an extraordinary opportunity to acquire a Fantasy coin from the incomparable Irving Goodman Collection.

The Silver Taels Of China

The Irving Goodman Collection of Chinese Silver Taels is represented by examples from each of the 12 provinces: Shanghai, Kirin, Shansi, Shan Tung, Kwanping, Hoo Pu, Kwangtung, Hupeh, Tai Ching, Ti-Kuo, Peiyang, Fengtien, and Hunan.

Almost all Taels are rare and a few are probably unique. Most collectors prize the Tael as it is the largest crown size piece in Chinese numismatics.

The word Tael actually means a unit of weight. It is equal to 590 35/100 grains of pure silver. Although the Tael was supposed to have a standard unit of weight it is interesting to note that weights varied significantly from coin to coin.

*Kann lists this coin as being of the highest rarity with 2 stars (* *). This coin, and the next lot, were purchased about 20 years ago from a Swiss bank which obtained the 2 coins from a returning missionary who spent many years in China. Please note that this coin is plain edge but that the next lot has a milled edge. Our consignor has only seen one other specimen in the last 30 years, and it was badly mutilated. Kann did not have this coin in his collection.*

*See the prior lot for more detailed information. This coin was apparently struck after the prior lot with a milled edge as the die seems to be the same but started to break up or become defective as a number of characters on the obverse are incomplete. Kann lists this coin as being of the highest rarity with 2 stars (* *).*

In the center, within a linear ring, the Yin-Yang symbol, encompassed by the eight trigrams. Well struck with deep mirror surfaces and a superb tone. Extremely Rare. Proof. . . . . . ($17,500—UP)

The origin for striking this particular series of Taels is somewhat uncertain. The workmanship and beauty of these coins is superb. Sources therefore have suggested these coins were struck by the British Royal Mint. They were intended to be circulated between China and foreign countries. However the turmoil of revolt and the fact these coins had no English legends to help foreign merchants to understand these coins led to the failure of the series. The period of time for these coins was short lived and only a few pieces survive and are known to exist.

The following statement are the comments as they appeared in the Kann sale: The Kann book only shows a rubbing of this rarity and we quote Mr. Kann's comments on this great rarity: "For years the author endeavored to find the Mukden tael piece, but neither he, nor his Chinese collecting confreres came across its path. It was only in late October of 1952 that he received a good rubbing of the specimen from Hong Kong, together with an offer of sale for $2,000 U.S. money. The design of the coin is on almost the same lines as the Mukden dollar piece of 1903, type 251, except that the latter is inscribed FUNG-TIEN, while the tael coin is inscribed FEN-TIEN. It is justified to assume that the 1-tael was produced as essay in 1903 and as such and it is extremely scarce". Considered by E. Kann to be the rarest dollar in his entire collection. This piece was the highest priced coin in the Kann sale. The rarest of all the dragon coins.
